

Whareroa Caravan Refurbishment Sept 2017 to April 2018

Once upon a time there was a caravan on Kapiti Island which was used firstly for kiwi research and then for those involved in rodent eradication back in the 1980's. It was then helicoptered to Whareroa Farm near Mackay's Crossing but needed refurbishing. It was transferred to Kapiti Menzshed and a team began the task of cleaning it up and the refit. Fred, Brian, Robbie and John O were the main protagonists.

Let the pictures tell the story

The condition the Caravan arrived in and the cleanup. Brian was great on the water blaster and with a northerly wind didn't we all know it!! And who can remember the National Provident Fund.

Fred was flat out at times. Not sure whether it was work or recovery.

Peter B did an early quality check.

Fred did a final check on the outside of the van and then Fred and Brian stressed out while Ann from the Whareroa Farm Trust did a detailed quality check

Shane from the Whareroa Trust and Brian oversaw the loading on to the truck and its departure from Kapiti Menzshed.

And it is now installed with a deck at Whareroa farm
